CELEBRATING MARIA MONTESSORI

on  International Women's Day

8 March is International Women's Day, which celebrates the achievements of women and girls worldwide, and calls for their equality.

Here at Montessori Global Education, we find ourselves reflecting on the many achievements of Dr Maria Montessori – a trailblazing scientist, educator and innovator, and a tireless advocate for equality. She continues to inspire us today.

Click "LEARN MORE" to read our free article about Montessori's fascinating life and legacy, and watch our short video with a timeline of her life.

You can also access our article about Maria Montessori's life as an activist. She broke gender barriers from an early age, enrolling in an all-boys school and attending medical school in Rome.

She campaigned for the women, children and the most vulnerable in society.

The Power of Inspiration

Invite children to tell us who inspires them!

Montessori Global Education is continually inspired by the work and dedication of our community. We want to give children the chance to share their appreciation for someone who inspires them in their own community.

Does a child in your life have someone who has really made a difference for them? Perhaps they have an empowering role model, an adult who helps them learn particular new skills, someone who boosts their confidence – a person who helps them do and feel their best.

If so, you can encourage a child in your life to nominate someone for inclusion in our online Power of Inspiration gallery today!

Find out how to take part by reading the Network post at the “READ MORE” button below.
